

Emergency support in Mauritius and Rodrigues

Mauritius | Ambulance 114 or 999

Public emergency ambulance service. Police 999; fire 995 or 115; National Coast Guard 177. For urgent help use emergency services first, not the coach or a consulate. [20]

139 | Domestic violence support

Mauritius government domestic violence support and reporting line. If there is immediate danger, call police 999. [21]

Rodrigues | Queen Elizabeth Hospital

Ambulance contact listed by the Rodrigues Tourism Office: +230 8321500. Ask accommodation staff to help contact the hospital and confirm the closest emergency care route before arrival. Do not assume mainland ambulance arrangements are identical on the island. [22]

Travelling with mental health needs

Discuss your travel plans and medication with your treating professional before departure. Save the nearest hospital, travel insurer emergency number and a trusted contact offline. Check that insurance covers relevant conditions and activities.

If urgent distress occurs overseas

Go to the nearest appropriate hospital emergency department with a trusted friend if safe, or contact local emergency services. Your insurer can assist with care arrangements. Do not wait for an email reply from Navigator.

Australian consular emergency assistance

From overseas: +61 2 6261 3305. Within Australia: 1300 555 135. Consular assistance is not ambulance dispatch or a replacement for local treatment. [20]

Official consular directories

Australian DFAT overseas missions [23]; New Zealand MFAT embassies [24]; U.S. State Department embassies and consulates [25]. Use your nationality's official directory for current local and after-hours details.
